

This week we broke
our own rules.

We roasted our site.
Played bingo.
Picked a fight.
All inside WordPress.

Monday: we roasted our own website.

ROAST MY SITE

1/6

Before we roast
your WordPress site,
we roasted ours.

SELF-ROAST · WPOS.AI

We build WordPress
sites for a living.
So we checked ours.

Four things we found on wpos.ai today. All true. All a little embarrassing.

Tuesday: agency client bingo.

AGENCY CLIENT BINGO

1 / 1

Agency client bingo.
How many this week?

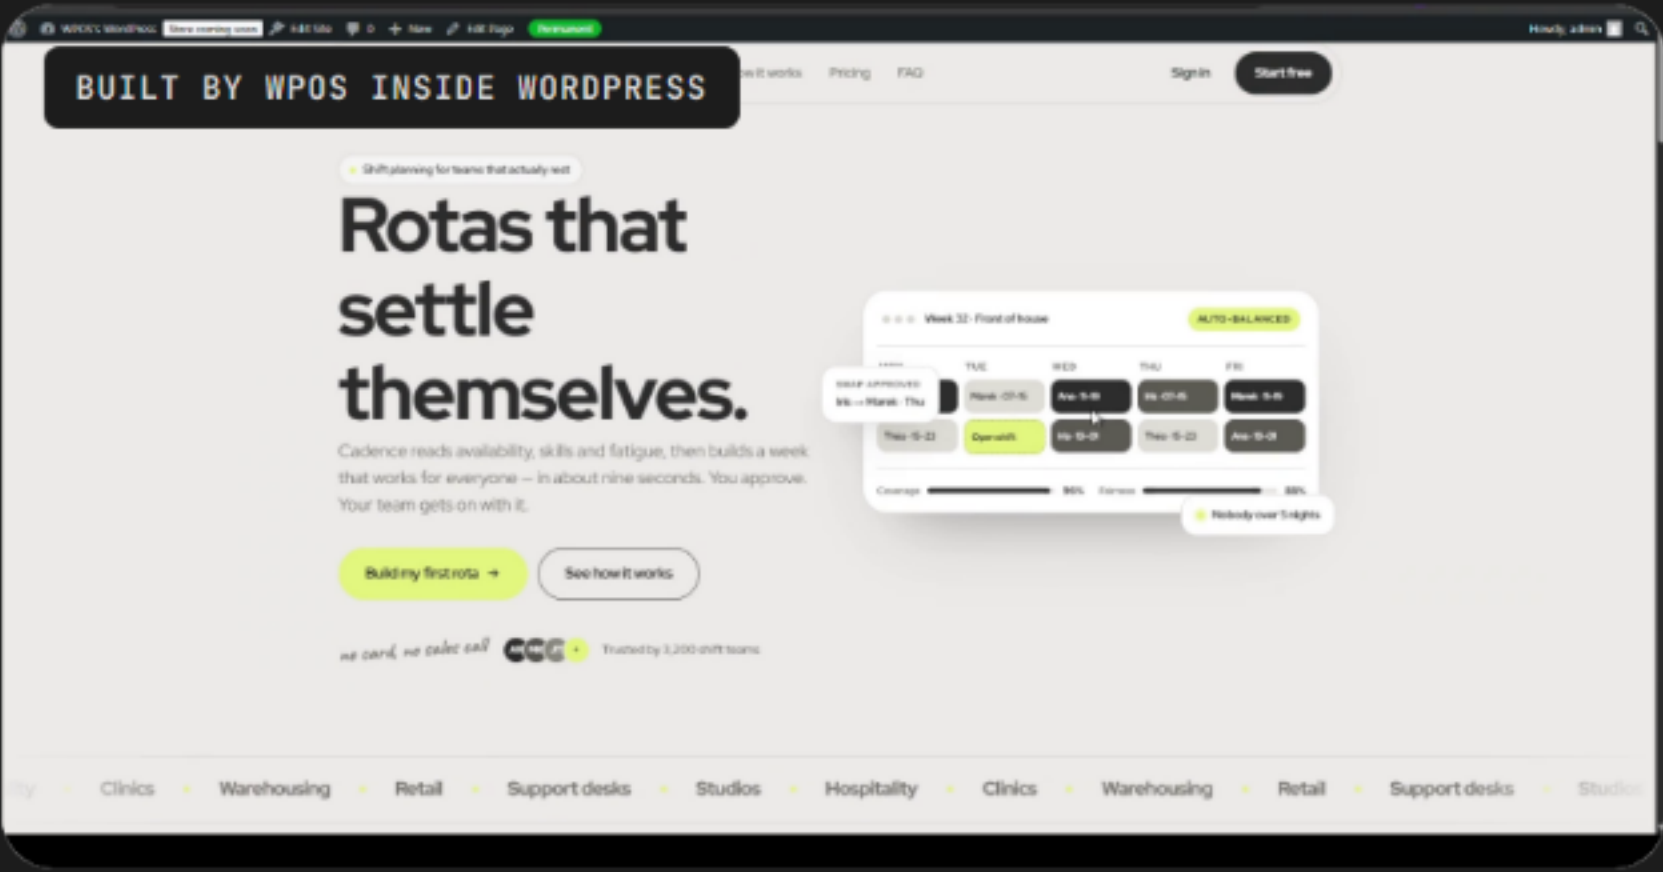

B	I	N	G	O
"Just a small change"	"Can the logo be bigger?"	"It works on my phone"	"My nephew does websites"	"Can we make it pop?"
"Quick call?" at 4:55 pm	Feedback as a screenshot of a screenshot	"Love it. Can we see 3 more options?"	Content arrives the day before launch	"Why is it slow?" (47 plugins)
"Make it like Apple"	Login details in a WhatsApp voice note	FREE: "Can we hop on a quick call?"	"Can you just move it a bit left?"	Invoice reminder number 3
"Is it mobile friendly?" after launch	"The CEO hates blue"	Brief: "You know, modern"	"Can it go live today?"	Admin password: password123
Scope creep with a smile	"We changed our minds"	"Can you also do our Instagram?"	Comic Sans request	"Can we revert to version 1?"

Wednesday: one line, one landing page.

GUESS THE PROMPT

1/4

This whole landing page came from one line.

Thursday: your AI builder is a hostage situation.

HOT TAKE

1/5

Unpopular opinion.

Your AI site builder is a hostage situation.

Friday: AI agents walked into Elementor.

WHAT CHANGED THIS WEEK

1/5

Elementor just let AI agents into its editor.

ELEMENTOR 4.3 • MCP

Claude Code. Codex.
Cursor. Any MCP tool.
Building inside Elementor.

Elementor's own MCP page says these tools can now build pages directly in the editor.

Which one should we make a video of?

1. The self-roast

2. Agency bingo

3. Guess the prompt

4. The hostage take

5. Agents in Elementor

Tell us in the comments. Vote with a number.